

Jacqui Bunge

Jacqui Bunge is a chiropractor with a special interest in paediatrics. She qualified from the University of Johannesburg in 2007 and received an award of distinction.

Bunge has gone on to qualify with her ICSSD, Bio-puncture and NSAIDS Injectable course. She has also completed the Kirokids diploma (Australia), Movement Analysis and Education Strategies Therapy diploma and MscAPP in Paediatric Musculoskeletal Health through the AECC. Jacqui has completed her research on excessively crying babies in 2015 and in March 2016, presented it at the European Chiropractic Union Congress in Norway.

Bunge will be lecturing for the British Chiropractic Association in October and for postgrad students at AECC in November. Having worked in multi-disciplinary sports centres, her focus is now on her two multi-disciplinary paediatric centres in Johannesburg. She is passionate about her work in paediatrics with a special interest in a multi-disciplinary approach to ensure early intervention and prevention.
