

Janine Lewis

Janine Lewis, M.S., C.G.C, P.M.P is the Program Director of the Genetic and Rare Diseases Information Center (GARD) co-funded by two U.S. National Institutes of Health (NIH) agencies, the National Center for Advancing Translational Sciences (NCATS) and the National Human Genome Research Institute (NHGRI).

She has had more than 15 years of experience in genetic counseling and more than 12 years of experience in a senior leadership position with a number of NIH projects including NCATS, NHGRI, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Federal Drug Administration and the National Library of Medicine. A certified genetics counselor, Ms. Lewis is a Diplomate, American Board of Medical Genetics. She is also on the Professional Advisory Board of the Tuberous Sclerosis Alliance. She holds an M.S. in Human Genetics from Sarah Lawrence College, United States.